BETHEL AREA WITHOUT ELECTRICITY FOR SEVEN HOURS LAST SATURDAY

The Bethel area was without electrical power for over seven hours last Saturday. According to a Central Maine Power Company spokesman in Rumford the outage was occasioned by a short circuit on a transformer insulator on the Woodstock to Bethel line near Littlefield's Beaches a half mile off Route 26 in Greenwood.

According to the spokesman, because damage to the insulator was not readily visible it took five CMP linemen nearly five hours to locate the problem. Power lines had to be searched and tested by sections, a process hampered by Saturday's rain. It is suspected that the insulator had been struck and weakened by lightning at an earlier time and the damp weather finally caused it to short circuit.

The power went off in Bethel village shortly before 8:45 a.m. and was restored at about 4 p.m. The area affected by the outage included, according to the CMP spokesman, Bethel, Woodstock, Gilead, Newry, Hanover, Andover, Locke, Mills and Bryant Pond.

THIS WEEK AT THE MOSES MASON HOUSE

Approximately 50 persons attended the joint Fryeburg-Bethel historical societies meeting at the Dr. Moses Mason House on Thursday evening. The meeting was preceded by the annual picnic.

During the program portion of the meeting Society Director Stanley R. Howe presented a paper on Fryeburg-Bethel historical connections. Howe stressed the fact that since Fryeburg was south of Bethel it was natural that it should be settled earlier—in 1762-73. Settlers to Bethel came in 1774. Fryeburg incorporated in 1777 and Bethel 19 years later in 1796. Howe outlined the fact that many settlers came to Bethel from Fryeburg as part of the natural migration pattern, south to north. One of the earliest was Samuel Ingalls who bought Jonathan Keyes holdings in East Bethel in 1777. Others followed including Benjamin Russell Sr. who

CHAMBER MET TUESDAY AT BETHEL TOWN OFFICE

The Greater Bethel Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday, July 10 at the Bethel Town Office. Directors reviewed the membership list and a letter and application for membership was drafted and will be mailed to area individuals and businesses.

Director, Robin Zinchuk, now has a list of activities and events for the summer months and is publicizing these events throughout the State.

The Chamber will have an information table at the Common on Mollyckett Day. All those businesses interested in displaying their literature should leave brochures with Rick Whitney at The Shop on Main Street.

The Chamber will produce a new map of the greater Bethel Area and Bethel Village with a listing of Chamber members and their locations. The maps will be available for distribution on Mollyckett Day.

It will be the long range goal of the Chamber to revise and reprint the current "Bethel" brochure for 1985. Next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, July 17, 7:30 a.m., at the Bethel Town Office.

FROM THE bethel town office

Damage to local roads from the torrential rain storm of June 29 were compounded by last Saturday's heavy rains. East Bethel received the main thrust of the storms, as gullywashers tore away culverts, road surfaces and road beds. Especially hard hit were Intervale Road, the Chase Road, Bird Hill Road, Bailey Road, Gore Road and Chandler Hill Road. This is a partial list only as "other places" were hard hit as well.

Initial estimates last week of $5,000 for emergency road repairs were scrapped this week as road crews responded to new emergency conditions Saturday. Some of the repairs made the previous week had to be partially redone, adding to the new washouts. Updated cost estimates have not been completed.

The rapid response by the highway crew (and police officers who helped spot the trouble spots as they occurred), giving up week end and family plans is highly praiseworthy. State law requires a response to a dangerous road condition within a short time or possibly suffer the consequences of costly lawsuits to be funded by our taxpayers. By acting quickly, the crewmen stemmed this continued on Page Five

HEALTH & SERVICE COUNCIL WILL CONDUCT YOUTH FINGERPRINTING JULY 28

The Northern Oxford Health & Service Council will be conducting a youth fingerprinting program on Saturday, July 28, from 8 a.m. to 12 noon at the American Legion Hall on Vernon Street in Bethel. The program has been developed in response to community concern regarding child kidnapping which has received nationwide attention in recent months.

Children aged two and above will be fingerprinted; however, they must be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian. It is difficult to get accurate fingerprints on children under the age of five so parents of children in that age category are urged to get repeat fingerprints annually. Parents will be given the fingerprints for safe-keeping. However, upon request of the parent the Bethel Area Health Center will make and keep a copy in the child's file at the Center.

Representatives of both the local and County police departments will

NOTES FROM THE BETHEL LIBRARY

"Reading Rainbow" is back for the second season on Public Broadcasting Service, channel 10. It is a popular children's TV program that teaches youngsters the joys of reading. The show premieres on July 16. The Monday through Friday segment will be hosted by LeVar Burton. A survey of children's libraries conducted at the end of last season revealed that "Reading Rainbow" had directly resulted in an increase in summer reading among youngsters. Bethel Library has available all the books mentioned on this program. Virginia Keniston, Librarian, recommends this program.

Tuesday — "Reading Hour" for elementary school children. Thursday — "Story Hour" for pre-school children, 10-11. All welcome.

Mrs. Kathleen McAllister spent 10 days in June with her daughter, Margie, at her home in Medinah, Ill. Margie and her husband, Louis, are now traveling in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Seames are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, born July 3, seven pounds 12 oz., named Maria Lynn. Mr. and Mrs. Billy Seames are paternal grandparents. Franklin Grange will meet Monday night with Gentlemen's Night. Refreshments after the meeting.

er hummingbirds, but enough to suck up black flies and mosquitoes.

Cherie and Phyllis Heywood are visiting the Yarnalls and Ellen Heywood for a week's vacation. They are from Leroy, N.Y.

A couple of lumberjacks in town have purchased new saws of a relatively new brand.

Some of us including yours truly were down country during the terrific thunder storm and downpour Friday. The rain and hail stones pelted down so hard and fast, I worried about traveling through the Notch and Backstreet for road washouts only to find there'd been no rain here!

Clare Tripp arrived at her camp Sunday. Her daughter and son-in-law came as guests for a week vacation.

Hope you all had a pleasant holiday. If there were a workable program of compulsory birth control for black flies, deer flies and people-biting bugs it would be helpful. Maybe a top to toe fisherman's net would be easier to come by. Then we might all get listed under the who's who column.

The state police have frequented the area. I hope there is not another Wilder around these parts.

Seated in by Viva Whitman:

What a relief today has been after the hot humid week we have had to put up with. It has really seemed rather cool at times and the air so much drier than the foregoing days of the week.

Last Monday we went strawberrying, with my daughter, in Buckfield and you never saw more daisies than we did that day. The strawberries had a good chance to hide from one's eyes with so many daisies growing all around them and so tall. However, we found some strawberries and got hot and sweaty doing it, but the berries tasted good when washed, hulled and put on the table for eating. We had my granddaughter with us and she doesn't walk too well outdoors yet, and with the berries being on a hillside, where we picked, made it hard for her to keep her balance, so we had to listen to quite a lot of crying on her part. Don't think she was too thrilled to go picking berries at all.

After we got home I made freezer jam from some of the berries, after getting them hulled, which was a job in itself, and froze some for a later date when we might want some for a shortcake or something. Russell left the talk up to me and went to the garden, but it was so hot, he didn't stay too long. It was too hot to work out in the sun for very long. We waited until after supper and then we both went up to the garden and worked for a while putting up poles for the beans to climb on and did a little weeding and hoeing, but not as much as was needed. We had just gotten to the end of our ambition and had to call it quits for the day.

Russell went to the garden early on Tuesday morning to do what work he could before it got too hot. Wynona brought Courtney to stay with me while she was working, so Karen Yates came down and played with her while I did other things. They got along pretty good and all enjoyed molasses cookies before time for Baby to take a snooze in the late forenoon.

Have traded for a different car and had to have some papers that I had gone to Augusta to get, but you know how the State or Government can find things up for us at times, so got a call from the guy I traded cars with that they needed my signature on some papers before I could register the car I had traded for. After lunch, Russell, Courtney and I headed for Lewiston to get things straightened out and then met Wynona at home. It was cooler riding than trying to work anyway, so didn't mind the trip. Stayed and had supper with Wynona and Mike before.

fore coming home in the evening. Oh yes, I forgot to say that Russell had to go to his doctor in the afternoon and then had to have x-rays before going to Lewiston. That took time as usual, but Courtney was very good and while we were in Auburn, we all enjoyed some ice cream. The waitress said they had small scoops for children, but I told her Courtney would eat as much ice cream as either Russell or I would. She looked a little shocked but her dish got cleaned out good and I only had about two bites of it. That tells you how much that little girl loves ice cream.

Wednesday afternoon was spent in the old trailer where we have stored all our goodies since moving here. With the flea market coming up on the week end, we decided we better get busy or we wouldn't have anything to take for it and want to clean out the mess we had up there. We did a lot of repacking and unpacking to find articles to take with us. It was a good time to do it as it was a little cooler and looked like it could rain any minute, but held off for us nicely. We both needed a bath by the time we were done handling so much stuff.

Russell went to the garden Thursday morning to work a while; I had an appointment to keep in South Paris and did one or two errands while in town. After lunch we decided we better go to Bethel to see if I could get the license on my car and to Newry Corner to see what we had for signs for the up-coming flea market. Had to stop in West Paris and pay the excise tax first, then were on our way. Found we didn't have to make new signs so was glad of that.

In cleaning out the old trailer, I found a box of towels and we needed to do the wash so we thought if we went early, we would stand a better chance of getting what washers and dryers we needed. Guess what, others thought the same thing and it was a busy place when we got there and even busier when we left. Got home and put clothes away and headed for North Bridgton to see my doctor. Had to stop and have an x-ray or two and also had lunch. After supper, I thought I better start getting chicken deboned and ready to make sandwich filling to take to the flea market for refreshments, so started and Russell got out the old meat grinder and helped me by grinding it. We heard that it would rain on Saturday, so didn't mix the filling that night and was glad when Saturday came.

WOODSTOCK HISTORICAL SOCIETY NOTES

Thought for the week: "The path of Civilization is paved with tin cans." Sometimes there is so much that is ugly in the world that the historian despairs of uncovering the beautiful and lasting, yet it is there if one but hunts through the debris.

This Saturday's meeting of the Woodstock Historical Society will be held at the Woodstock Museum at 7 p.m. Ruby Emery of the program committee has planned two offerings. First, Mansfield Packard of the Board of Trustees will read an account of the early days of Woodstock. Secondly, a tape of the Sesquicentennial Celebration will be played. Plan to attend to hear these milestones of Woodstock history. Latest additions to materials on sale at the Museum are tiles with pictures of a hand-crank telephone and the Woodstock School. Harvey Sweetser has donated a Dudley advertising fan to the collection — the Dudley's were long a prominent family in Bryant Pond. Ray Burnham has also volunteered his help in various tasks involving fixing up the building. In clearing the Museum, many items of interest have been added to the Museum's collections. It is amazing how many homely items of yesteryear rise almost to the level of minor works of art — another meaning of "The path of Civilization is paved with tin cans." There will also be a food sale at Littlefield Beach on Saturday.

Society members look forward to seeing you at their meetings and Museum hours.

FROM THE BETHEL AREA HEALTH CENTER

Summer is a fun time of year and is especially appreciated in Maine because our winters are so long. By the time we get to enjoy the great outdoors, our lives are made miserable by all manner of insects. Following are a few helpful hints to avoid insect stings:

1. Wear shoes outdoors.
2. While eating and drinking outdoors, watch for bees to light on food. You don't want someone to put food in his/her mouth and have a bee on it and sting them in the mouth.
3. Avoid wearing scents.
4. Wear dull-colored clothing (Bright colors and black attract insects).
5. Avoid wearing loose clothing—insects may get caught in it.
6. Avoid wearing shiny jewelry.
7. If possible, keep car windows closed. This is especially important because a driver may panic if an insect gets in the car while he/she is driving.
8. Beware of insects in flowers as they burrow in the flower to get pollen.
9. While mowing the lawn, beware of insect nests on the ground.
10. If possible try to keep vines away from the house as this will attract insects.

Exercise a little caution and have a great summer!!!

"COMMISSION" TO PRESENT CONCERT AT GOSPEL CENTER

"Commission," a six-member group representing Nyack College, Nyack, N. Y., will present a celebration in music, testimonials, and audio-visuals at the Bethel Gospel Center of the C. & M. A. on Friday, July 13, at 7 a. m.

Nyack, founded in 1882, is one of the oldest schools of its kind in the United States.

Walking With Jesus Christ

July 12, 1984

The world goes on in harmony with nature—those that pay attention to our peculiar weather conditions—they call it "El Niño's vexation"—caused over nine billions of dollars in damage last year—the result of floods, hurricanes, tornadoes, high ocean temperatures (no dollar value placed on this), snow melt, mud slides, and drought with spreading of disease and hunger.

Then there are those folk that observe the declining social and moral atmosphere of the world—our community—even Bethel. We're beset by many forms of degenerate influences—the list of moral filth is long. Self seeking news media—national entertainment, the majority of who lack any form of Christian ethics.

The flood of obscenity, drugs and alcohol controlled by people of perverted minds attracts more and more of our society into the whirlpool of self destruction. Adulterous living—homosexual practices resulting in over 5,000,000 people in our nation with genital AIDS problems.

No wonder family life is falling apart—yes, the world is in harmony with nature—going into disarray. The picture is bleak—however there is hope, and the answer is God, the Lord of the universe—He who made it perfect—and so it was until man sinned—giving the chief of liars, Satan, charge of it.

Society as a whole does not understand the why and the wherefore of our disturbances because it has no Biblical knowledge and often when it thinks it does—it is of a cultist nature wherein the pure Gospel is distorted.

The destructive weather is not "El Niño" but God's chastisement for an unworthiness. National immorality is our standard under the influence of Satanic powers. If we prefer to be under Satan's charge (even though God loves us) then we suffer.

When we take God at His Word—accepting His promise of an abundant life we will begin to Congress has designated and the President has proclaimed July 20 as National P.O.W./M.I.A. Recognition Day to honor those who have served their country so faithfully.

On that date the special P.O.W./M.I.A. flag will fly at the White House, the Departments of State and Defense and the Veterans Administration as a symbol of this nation's unwavering commitment to achieve the fullest possible accounting for our servicemen.

Severe hardships have been endured by those who have been or are being held prisoner. The families of those held captive or missing in action have experienced acute suffering and pain. The loss of a loved one is a tragic situation under any circumstance, but that burden is magnified when the fate of the loved one is unknown.

Until the issue is resolved, it must remain a matter of the highest national priority. We must continue to exert pressure on those nations who have information about our missing soldiers. Veterans throughout this country volunteer to bring the issue to the attention of thousands of visitors to the Nation's Capitol. Stationed near the Vietnam Veterans' Memorial, they collect signatures on petitions seeking information on our P.O.W.s/M.I.A.s.

More than a decade after the end of the Vietnam war there are still more than 2,500 Americans unaccounted for, including 18 from Maine.

On July 20, all Americans should join in honoring all former prisoners of war, those still missing and their families who have endured an uncommon sacrifice on behalf of this country.

SEN. WILLIAM COHEN

From Washington

Beware of Doctor Quack:
Moon Dust, Snake Venom,
Horse Warts, Cheddar Cheese . . .

Would anyone really believe that these items could cure a serious illness or disease? Regrettably, the answer is yes. The sad truth is that roughly $10 billion each year is wasted on these so-called medical "cures." Americans spend an average of $44 a year per person on unproven medical therapies, compared with 25 cents on sensory research, 35 cents on arthritis research, and $4.40 on cancer research. Indeed, it is a crime that 10 times more money is being spent on medical quackery as opposed to research on legitimate medical treatment.

Yet, the consequences of medical fraud cannot be measured in dollars alone. More tragic, in many instances, are the pain and suffering of patients who are enticed away from effective and safe medical care by the false promise of a painless, quick or easy cure. By the time many of these people realize they have been deceived, it is too late to prevent serious injury.

Among the most common quack products are those that purport to cure cancer and arthritis, and slow the aging process. Here are a few examples:

— A "Kongo Kit" containing two mittens made of hemp painfully peels off the skin until all arthritic aches are forgotten;

— Other arthritis cures suggested by one quack includes: bury a person in earth, sit in an abandoned mine, stand under a 1,000 watt bulb during a full moon, soak in mud;

— Cancer cures: swallow a compound of ground diamonds or a tonic made from horse warts suspended in sour milk;

— A health vibrator sold by "doorbell doctors" who claimed it could cure dandruff and baldness.

These "doorbell doctors" prey upon our most vulnerable citizens, with the elderly the most frequent victims of medical quackery. Older people—many of whom are trusting, unfamiliar with modern remedies and frequently in need of medical help—are quick to welcome strangers who take an interest in their health. Con artists never think twice about impoverishing those senior citizens living on fixed incomes.

The House Select Committee on Aging recently recommended the establishment of a clearinghouse on unproven medical remedies. Merely establishing such a clearinghouse, however, is only half the task since individuals, especially the elderly, must have access to it. One senior citizen group suggested that the information be disseminated through local Social Security offices since many senior citizens already go there for information about retirement income and health care.

Other ways to combat medical quackery include stiffer penalties and the enforcement of existing laws. To date, medical quackery is not a high priority of federal government agencies. The Justice Department says that quackery "does not lend itself to federal criminal investigation," and the Food and Drug Administration only devotes 1% of its budget to this area. Only the U. S. Postal Inspection Service is aggressively investigating mail-order quack products. Clearly, other federal agencies need to step up their efforts and join the fight against quack cures.

More so than any other group, the medical community must play a leadership role in the prevention of unproven medical therapies. The American Medical Association urges its members to increase their

FOOD PRESERVATION PROGRAM IN NORWAY JULY 31

The Cooperative Extension Service is sponsoring a program, "Food Preservation Update, on Tuesday, July 31, at 7 p. m., at the Key Bank (upstairs) on Main Street in Norway. The program will focus on current concerns for home food preservation including procedures, equipment, ingredients, and frequently asked questions. Participants may also bring their pressure gauges to be tested for accuracy.

Pre-registration is required. Please call 743-6329 to make program reservations.

On July 30, all Americans should join in honoring all former prisoners of war, those still missing and their families who have endured an uncommon sacrifice on behalf of this country.

On July 30, all Americans should join in honoring all former prisoners of war, those still missing and their families who have endured an uncommon sacrifice on behalf of this country.

professional compassion. A physician who tells a patient that "there is nothing else I can do" opens the door to quackery. Those who have been told that "there is no hope" for curing their illness often turn to dangerous unproven treatment out of desperation. Doctors and nurses should explain the illness clearly, tell the patient what to expect and offer several different avenues of treatment. As one prominent medical doctor said, "Even if an illness is no longer curable, it is always treatable."

Quackery can no longer be considered inconsequential or comical. The explosion of quack cures costs billions of dollars each year. It has caused severe injury and even death to those who were in the most need of sound medical attention. I urge all Mainers, especially our elderly, to be on guard against those "doorbell doctors" who too often place personal financial gain before the safety and health of unsuspecting victims.

Canadians Leave No Tern Unstoved

A soft spoken 68-year-old Jonesport sea captain, a group of rare Arctic Terns, and a granite speck 12 miles off the coast of Maine; these are unlikely participants in an international squabble which attracted the attention of the national media and the U. S. Department of State. The story is an interesting example of the kinds of matters that cross my desk.

The territorial tug-of-war concerns Machias Seal Island, a 15-acre speck of land, 12 miles off the coast of Maine, and is a favorite of Atlantic flying bird-watchers and photographers to the tiny island, a practice which is his avocation as well as his vocation.

For all of those years, there has been a sort of uneasy truce between the U. S. and Canada, both of which claim ownership of the island. Each country cites a variety of treaties and boundary agreements to bolster its case, but there has been no final resolution of the problem over the years.

By and large, this situation hasn't affected people like Captain Norton, who make their living at the island. He thinks that the Maine and New Brunswick lobstermen who fish around the island can work out their infrequent feuds, but that the real problems come from the governments of each country. Captain Norton says of the Canadian citizens who operate the island's lighthouse, "The keepers have been my best friends—I get along just great with them, taking them milk and mail when I can."

But from time to time over the years, Canadian government officials have accused Captain Norton of disrupting the natural habitat of the birds on the island by his daily birdwatching excursions. I have known Captain Norton since my first "walk" through Washington County in 1972, and making such a suggestion about a man who is a naturalist and is passionately devoted to the care of the island is patently ridiculous.

The on-again-off-again tensions were most definitely on-again last week. A Royal Canadian Mounted Police helicopter swooped onto the island scaring the birds and killing a large number of them. Ironically, the purpose of the expedition was to "protect" the birds from "outside intruders" like Captain Norton. After the helicopter landed, destroying a number of these rare birds which thrive on the island during the spring and summer months, the RCMP left several officers to patrol the island.

The reaction among many, including Captain Norton and myself, was one of incredulity. For the Canadians to launch this effort in an attempt to "protect" this island from a gentleman who has made the island his life for more than 44 years seems more than absurd. Coming as it did less than a week after the newly-selected Canadian Liberal Party leader

John Turner pledged a new era of good relations with the United States, the incident seemed inexplicable at best.

I contacted Secretary of State Shultz and asked him for an immediate review of this matter, and his office has agreed to look into it. Possible options for a U. S. response include sending a formal diplomatic note of protest or initiating formal discussions with Canadian wildlife officials to attempt a relaxation of tensions. The step that is most fundamental to resolution of this lingering problem is to determine once and for all which country owns the island.

The State Department will no doubt unleash a platoon of bureaucrats to study the international ramifications of all of these steps, and the process of diplomacy will grind along. But this is more than an abstract problem between governments. It is a matter of considerable concern to a slightly stooped gentleman with a downcast drawl who, with his dog, Matey, sets off each day to explain the natural beauty of nesting birds to a new group of visitors, hoping that the great powers of government and diplomacy will allow him one more day to love the sea.

INFANT CAR SEAT LOAN PROGRAM STILL OFFERED BY HEALTH CENTER

The Bethel Area Health Center is still offering an infant car seat loan program. On March 23 the new law regarding mandatory use of car seats for children four and under went into effect with a $25 fine for first offense and with subsequent offenses, the fine increases. In order to help people comply with the law and believing that auto safety is a vital aspect of child health, the Bethel Area Health Center offers an infant car seat loan program in hopes that baby's first ride will be a safer ride.

The purpose of the car seat loan program is to supplement the education of the parents(s) of infants to the proper use of car restraints and to encourage the use of an approved car seat from the first car ride on. The loan program is also an effort to help families of new infants who may be facing large doctor or hospital bills postpone the cost of a car seat until after the first nine months.

The car seat loan program is meant for infants only and loans will not exceed nine months.

The program is offered to families within the Health Center's service area which includes Bethel, Gilead, Hanover, Woodstock, Greenwood, Albany, Andover and Newry as well as regular patients of the Center who may reside outside the service area. You do not have to be a patient of the Health Center to apply.

Personnel at the Health Center have been trained to demonstrate the proper use of the car seat. If you are interested in participating in the program, please call the Center to make an appointment. A nurse will demonstrate the proper use of the car seat and give you written instructions along with the car seat. You will be required to make a deposit and sign a rental agreement and liability release form.

Initial exterior and interior renovations to the building since it was accepted by the Town in March 1982 have been completed pursuant to the broad Facilities Committee recommendations accepted by the Board of Selectmen. After the Aug. 6 meeting, the Selectmen will consider specific actions to take directing the shape of Cole Block renovations. Meanwhile, the Manager will contact all contractors requesting they place efforts on hold until after these decisions are made.

North East Lovell

— Pauline Smith, Corres. —

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Smith and Ada Mallia called on Rose Young of Oxford, and Donald and Kathy Knight, on Wednesday.

Iva Fox had cook out supper at her son Albert Fox's, July 4.

The Belaskas are at their home this week.

Jerry and Mary Wilson called at the Smiths Sunday.

Robert Johnstone helped on Leroy Smith's wood this week.

Church service was held at the Center Lovell Church Sunday. A large crowd was out. Nine in the choir.

Jack and Beverly Bassett, Martin, spent July 4 with their oldest daughter, Brenda Bassett, in Rockport.

John and Carroll Palmer called on Pauline Smith Tuesday.

The Leroy Smiths visited with a friend, Elvira Littlehale, in Bryant Pond, Wednesday.

Martin Bassett, daughter of Jack and Beverly Bassett of Lovell, was awarded an associate degree in applied science in fashion buying and merchandising from Fashion Institute of Technology in New York City. Martin was on the dean's list and her degree was granted cum laude. A Fryeburg Academy graduate, she will continue her education at Mount Holyoke College this fall.

A musical was given from the youth of the church Friday night at the Village Church, benefit the Spangenberg Memorial, for a new piano. A very fine program, thanks to Mary Wilson and others who worked so hard.

Michel Fox worked for Arthur Weeks, also stayed with his grandmother, Iva Fox, last week end. Rosemary Smith visited her mother, Iva Fox, Saturday. Also Paul and Iva Fox and son, Kevin, of Monmouth, took Iva out to dinner in South Paris.

Hazel Allen received many cards for her birthday July 7. Friends and neighbors sent in gifts.

LYMAN MARTIN REUNION

It was rain, rain and more rain for the 150 Lyman Martin descendants that made the effort to attend the reunion at the American Legion Hall in Locke Mills, July 7. It was very disappointing that the electric power was off the entire day, which meant no water was available. The musical program was cancelled due to the power outage. The talented Martin boys had planned to play.

Flashlights were used to see to register the guests who were given a name tag to wear. Mrs. Mary Mills was stationed at the entrance to the hall and being a genealogist had the most information on the ancestors.

The family group gathered at the many tables for the noon lunch and shared old photos.

Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Mills had prepared a huge family tree and it was posted on the wall, along with old photos with identifications. Flashlights helped folks to see and find their grandparents.

Chairman Forest Martin and his wife, Daphne, brought along the name tags that helped tremendously to keep track of who was who.

There are 22 living grandchildren of Lyman and Harriet Herick Martin. Fourteen were in attendance, namely: Vivian Dacey, Portland; Cecile Winslow, South Paris; Elvira Churchill, Bethel; Mary Mills, Locke Mills; Forest Martin, Norway Lake; Stanley Martin, Auburn; Bertha Dee, Portland; Frank Waterhouse, West

Rotary Club News

The Bethel Rotary Club met at the Sudbury Inn for a luncheon meeting on Tuesday, July 10. The originally planned agenda for the day was Mollycoddle Day planning, however, the Club members were pleased and surprised to have the honored presence of Senator George Mitchell join with them for lunch and speak to the group about his decision to enter politics and then answered questions posed by Rotarians on the subjects of national security, future quality of life, control of costs within the defense budget, and over-expenditure for defense items.

After the departure of Senator Mitchell, Mollycoddle Day planning was the order of business. Everything appears to be right on target. The sale of 'Barbecue'

Fried Clam tickets will be offered commencing immediately. All local friends and neighbors of Rotary are asked to support Bethel Rotary and purchase tickets. The profits from these sales are totally used in support of local projects. The program for next week will be confined to final Mollycoddle Day planning.

Guests and visiting Rotarians joining with the Club on Tuesday were: Senator George Mitchell, Washington, D. C.; Chas. Feld, Marco Island, Fla.; Bill Lowther, Boonton, N. J.; Dennis Flaherty, Biddeford; Gil Robinson and El Stauseback, Wilmington, Del.; Iva Pitcher, Lewiston/Auburn; Bill Wood, Dover/Durham, N. H.; Chas. Heywood, LeRoy, N. Y.; Steve Morrison, Rockland; Arthur Meader, Rumford; R. Lauret Benoit, Washington, D. C., and Jeffrey Mills, guest of Roger Conant.

MITCHELL IN BETHEL—U. S. Senator George Mitchell (right) visited with the Bethel Rotary Club during Spring Recess from the U. S. Senate at a luncheon meeting at the Sudbury Inn on Tuesday of this week. His non-political speech and clear explanation of world events were well received and thoroughly enjoyed by Rotarians and guests. With the Senator above is State Representative Jeff Mills of Bethel.

An invitation was extended to Franklin and West Paris Granges to visit with Presumptuous Grange in Westbrook, so many went on June 23, Bernha Witham Benoit is the Lecturer and extended the invites, it was C.W.A. night.

Bernha put a lot of work into this and presented a good program. She gave each visiting officer a loaf of bread which she made. As she works out she had to bake the bread off in the evening and it was three o'clock when she went to bed only to get up again at six to go to work. The bread was delicious. Night in our summer grove is quiet with a smell of coolness. Added to it this past week has been rain.

The metal on the garage roof has cracked and splattered during each shower.

Occasionally a twig snapped out back. A bird chirped once, the deep quiet then sheathed the grove. The quietness resumed until 4:30 in the morning, when the birds greeted the dawn. What a wonderful time of the year is summer!

When we moved here, the young trees near the pond were shoulder high. Now they tower high, high in the breezes that greet them.

Webster defines a tree, as the largest kind of plant having a single trunk and spreading branches. Joyce Kilmer described its beauty in his poem, Mother Nature shows it where each branch and leaf, each patch of light and shade portrayed, is a fabric woven for all to see.

The rain this week made singing waters. The bubbling, contented song could be heard coursing their way, beside the dark band of the road through culverts to the pond. When the sun did shine, a thousand little blades of grass sparkled and the shifting sandbars stone like spears of liquid gold.

High summer brings the showy daisies. Their white petals thickly rayed about a deep yellow center, are so thick in fields that they form a halo around the edge and almost hide the fact that there are other flowers, blooming beyond.

This is a beautiful spot in summer. In the back-lighting of early morning on through the day, it's a gentle world. It is nice to watch the grove waking up. Then if it's a clear night there is extra beauty in the glittering stars and moon dipping light into the water. The pond is then rippling in gold and silver. Across the lawns and waters.

North ParisEveline B. Vatcher, Corres.

We had a beautiful holiday and it was quiet in our neck of the woods except for the fast moving cars and trucks, and the strawberries grew just the same.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Vatcher and three children of Lynn, Mass., came Tuesday to visit their mother, Rhoda Vatcher, until Saturday. The children were interested in the movements of the road crew. On Thursday they went to North Conway, N. H.

Mrs. Doris Lawrence and Mrs. Rhoda Vatcher went with the West Paris Senior Citizens to a restaurant in South Paris for dinner and a short meeting.

Joe and Eveline Vatcher had a look out on July 4. Guests were Rhoda Vatcher, Kenneth Vatcher and family and Doris and Root Lawrence. Joe put the table near the garage in the shade and they had the usual hot dogs, hamburgers, chips and strawberry shortcakes and whipped cream.

Eveline saw a small woodpecker on the lawn and she sure was doing a good job. Maybe he was just practicing.

The past week the construction crew removed the old gas tanks that were used at the old North Paris store and the cellar hole was filled in.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson, Sr., Burlington, Mass., came to their trailer on Friday for a few days vacation, and they visited Joe and Eveline and other friends. Sunday they went to the flea market at Sunday River and up through Grafton Notch.

The patients of Dr. Schmittke in this area are glad to read that Dr. Judy Shedd of Bethel will take care of his patients while he is recuperating.

Joe Vatcher checks the plantation every morning and Sunday he was thunderstruck by the damage that was done overnight. One row of pampas, part of a row of beans, beets and even the tops of some of the sunflowers were eaten. An animal, maybe a woodchuck, had dug a hole under a fence and had a fresh green party. He set a wire trap and it was sprung but no animal captured. The birds get into the peas so Joe had to be on his toes.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Records went to Portland, Conn., for the funeral of Mrs. Laura Katinowski on June 30.

Callers at Lawrences: Mr. and Mrs. Norman Millett and Brenda, Rhoda Vatcher, Arnold and Arlene Coffin, Stan Heath, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatcher.

'Root' and Doris Lawrence have enjoyed a week long anniversary party as the mail man, Tom Redman, brought them several cards each day from friends and relatives.

POLICE REMIND MOTORISTS OF TEENAGE DRINKING LAW

The state police remind teenage motorists of Maine's law to deter teenage drinking and driving.

"State law requires any person under the age of 20 who operates or attempts to operate a motor vehicle with a .02 (zero-point-zero-two) percent of alcohol in their blood to immediately lose driving privileges for one year," said Col. Allan H. Weeks, chief of the Maine State Police.

Weeks said the .02 blood/level may be arrived at if within one hour a person, depending upon weight has as little as one 12 ounce beer.

If a law enforcement officer has probable cause that a person under the age of 20 has been operating or has attempted to operate a motor vehicle while having .02 or more of alcohol in his/her blood, the law requires the person to take a blood or breath test to determine alcoholic content in the blood. If the test shows a .02 or higher of tacked by Indians in August, 1781. Fryeburg sent men to pursue the Indians and when this failed they helped man the garrison in case of further attacks. Other early settlers who came to Bethel from Fryeburg were Abraham Russell, James Swan, Eleazer Twitchell, John Grover, Jeremiah Andrews, Gideon Powers, Paul Powers, Silas Powers, Jesse Dutton, John Kilgore, Timothy Chapman, Samuel B. Locke, William Frye and Moses Pattee. There appear to be few people who went to Fryeburg from Bethel. One of the outstanding examples was David Robinson Hastings who left Bethel to set up a law practice in Fryeburg and it is his descendants that are now one of that town's most distinguished families. Howe concluded his paper with other connections including the fact that the Brown family long associated with the operations of the former Brown's Variety Store came to Bethel from Fryeburg in 1936.

A short business meeting preceded the program portion of the meeting. Vice President Alden T. Kennett who presided in the absence of President Donald G. Bennett announced that the next meeting would be held on Aug. 2 and feature a presentation by Dr. Maurice Whitten, Professor Emeritus at the University of Southern Maine on the subject "Maine's Powder Mills" which will discuss the manufacture of gun powder in various parts of Maine including ble at Edelweiss Country Store.

After "5-in-1" completes its performances, auditions will be held for the October production of the musical "Side by Side" by Stephen Seidheim, author of the current Broadway success "Sunday in the Park with George."

If the person refuses the test, that information is provided to the Secretary of State who will immediately suspend the person's operator's (driver's) license for one year.

In addition, said Weeks, if a person's blood is .10 or higher then the individual will be summoned or arrested for a normal O-U-I offense resulting in civil or criminal charges.

that in nearby Buckfield. The gift of the month was a book, "Incidents in White Mountain History" published in 1856, presented to the Society by Trustee Willard Wight of Newry. The historical footnote of the month was presented by Society Director Stanley Howe. It was from the "Oxford Democrat" of July, 1892 which recorded that "Victor and Ed McPhee were arrested for kicking and beating Henry Stiles of Fryeburg because he would not give them cider to drink." Apparently concluded Howe not all relations between the two towns were friendly. Under Director remarks, Howe reported that interest in the reprinting of "East Bethel Road" appeared high, that the next meeting of the Oxford County League of Historical Societies would be held on July 7 at Waterford and that anyone willing to furnish ideas and or help for the Mollycoddet Day float should let him know. A social hour followed the program.

New member this week is June Emerson of North Fryeburg.

A century ago the "Oxford County Advertiser" was reporting that Col. Clark S. Edwards had received a "sad telegram" from the West reporting that the eldest of his seven sons, Frank, 37 years old and a conductor on a passenger train running out of Ogden, Utah, had been killed in a rail accident.

Also reported in this issue was the following item: "There came very near being a fire at this village July 4. Some boys, or rather some that styled themselves young men, in going around on their morning parade about 2 a. m., lighting snap crackers and throwing them at the houses through the village, either by carelessness or on purpose, threw one into the chamber window at the home of J. S. Mason. It set the bed on fire upon which his little daughter Gracie was sleeping, but was seen just in time to save the building."

CENSUS SEEKS INFORMATION EMPLOYMENT STATUS AND OCCUPATION

The U. S. Bureau of the Census will conduct its regular survey on employment and unemployment in this area during the week of July 16-21, according to Arthur G. Dukakis, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Boston.

The survey is conducted for the U. S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 71,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the nation.

For example, in May 1984 the survey indicated that of the 13.8 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 105.3 million were employed. The nation's unemployment rate dropped to 7.5%.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.
